

What Is TASK?

TASK is a family-centered nonprofit offering support to families of children with disabilities.

TASK provides assistance in seeking and obtaining necessary education, early intervention, medical, and therapeutic support services.

TASK encourages parents to become equal partners in their children's education process and promotes the idea that a well-informed parent is the best advocate for his or her child.

TASK believes that a knowledgeable and ethical advocacy effort can make a positive impact on the quality of services for children with disabilities.

Most TASK services are FREE

Advocacy Training Workshops

- Help you learn how to make laws work for your child.
- Help parents and professionals better understand federal and state laws affecting children with special needs.
- Enable parents and professionals to develop more effective advocacy skills to better serve their children and clients.
- Help parents and professionals make positive and knowledgeable decisions for their children and clients.
- Encourage an atmosphere of understanding and cooperation between families, school districts, medical staff, and other service providers.

If a child or member of your family is in need of services, call us. We will help you understand how the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act and other laws protect your child's rights. We can help you learn about obtaining Individual Education Plans, Family Service plans, or other appropriate services.
